TOURNAMENT PLAY

by

Jack C. Mallory

Senior Tournament Director

A new set of rules for play in tournaments and matches rated by the United States Chess Federation went into effect in January of 1994. The new rules are contained in the U.S. CHESS FEDERATION'S OFFICIAL RULES OF CHESS, 4th Edition.

Under the new rules, except in a very few instances, a director will not make rulings or comment on games in progress unless asked by one of the players of the game in question. Consequently, it is essential that tournament players know the rules of play to insure that their rights are protected.

The most common mistake that players make in tournament play is adjusting pieces or handling the clock when it is not their move. This is disturbing to one's opponent and is a violation of the rules (10A,16C). A player who's clock is running has not completed his move (9G) unless checkmate or stalemate has occurred (13A). Therefore, it is not your move until your opponent has punched the clock and your clock is running. If your opponent persists in touching the equipment when it is not his move, you may stop the clock and call the tournament director. The director will probably tell your opponent to follow the rules. He may add two minutes additional time to your clock.

Another common error is punching one's clock when a pawn reaches the eighth rank. The move is not complete until the pawn has been replaced by a queen, rook, bishop, or knight (8F6, 8F7, 9D). A player must replace his pawn with a legal piece before punching his clock. If your opponent punches his clock before completing a pawn promotion, immediately punch your clock and start his running until his move is completed. If there is still a disagreement, call the director.

A third, common error, especially during time pressure (Having less than five minutes on one's clock before a time control is reached.) is knocking over several pieces while moving, punching the clock, and then setting the pieces back up on the opponent's time. A player who accidently knocks over one or more pieces while on the move must set the pieces back up on his own time before punching the clock. If your opponent does this, immediately punch your clock and start his running until he has correctly re-positioned all the pieces. If your opponent repeats this behavior, stop the clock and call the director. The director may award you two additional minutes on your clock because your opponent has disturbed your concentration.

I plan to discuss more rules of play in future issues of Chess Antics. If you have questions about the rules or suggestions for rules needing explanation, write to me and I will send you an answer and then address your question in a future issue.

I suggest that inexperienced players play by all the rules even in informal games played for fun. It is important to train yourself to play correctly if you plan to play in tournaments.

Learn the rules! They are intended to make the play of rated games fair for both players and to prevent disagreements.

THANKS!

TO ALL VOLUNTEERS WHO HELPED WITH THE 1994 NATIONAL JUNIOR CHESS CONGRESS

At the 1994 National Junior Chess Congress in January, over 20 volunteers from The Alabama Chess Federation helped with the tournament. Their work ranged from setup to teardown, from registration to tournament directors, from posting results to taking care of directors' food, numerous administrative chores and many other items. All these volunteers working together made the tournament pleasant, kept it running smoothly and an overall success. We received many letters of thanks from parents. They were very complimentary of the tournament. The volunteers made this happen. Thanks again to each of you.

ALABAMA SCHOLASTIC CHESS

By Walter J. Schaetzle, President

During the last year, the scholastic program has flourished in both quantity and quality. Our annual individual and team scholastic championships have become well established. Numerous other scholastic tournaments take place during the year and players are progressing well.

In the Individual Scholastic State Championships (cross-tables enclosed) 80 players participated and in the Team Scholastic State Championships (cross-tables enclosed) 97 players participated. Of more importance, a number of new schools entered the scholastic chess program. It is probably realistic to say our numbers could double next year.

In the Individual Scholastic Championship, for the open section, Matthew Puckett and Daniel Thomas earned all-state honors. Matthew Puckett will be our representative to the Denker High School Championship. In the Reserve Section, Tarak Shah and Zachary Forbes earned all-state honors. In the Elementary Section David Sloan, Patrick Maginnis, Kate Graham and Zachary Riddle earned all-state honors and in the Primary Section, Emily Thomas, Joshua McQueen and Arjun Varma earned all-state honors. We hope a good crowd will be on hand at our State Championships (Labor Day in Montgomery) when we present these people with their certificates.

In the State Scholastic Team Championships, Baldwin County High School broke the choke-hold that Murphy High has had on the high school championship with a big win. Randolph of Huntsville won the Junior High Championships, the championships and the Primary championships. We hope Randolph keeps up their fine chess program as Bud Martin has to spend more time with his other work. Bud has done a fine job in both quantity and quality. He really motivates the player and the parents. Thanks, Bud, for all your efforts.

Of major importance is the quality of our top players. We have four players in the top fifty for their national age groups. For a state with the population of Alabama, this is a real accomplishment. Of more importance is that all four players are near the top of their age groups. Andrew Whatley and Matthew Puckett are both approaching 2000 ratings at the age of 12. Andy Reeder and Daniel Thomas are both approaching 1800 at the age of 10. All are expected to break these levels in the next few months. Of great importance is we could have 8 to 12 players in the top fifty age groups next year. A distinct possibility is a master and three experts all under the age of 14.

The most important thing we can do is to integrate these players into our adult tournaments. This allows them to play better and higher rated players to achieve their performance and ratings. Please invite our scholastic players to your tournaments. Encourage them with prizes they can earn in the regular sections.

I thank the ACF for the plaque presented to me at the Team Scholastic State Championship in Montgomery for the scholastic chess program. I really consider it for myself and for Dorthy, who does much of the work.
